

2025 Fellowship Course of the Australian Institute of Dermatology

To be eligible to take the Fellowship course you have to have successfully completed the Institute's Membership and Advanced Membership courses or equivalent overseas Dermatology Diplomas and Advanced Surgical courses from the Skin Cancer College Australia or University of Queensland. The 2025 Fellowship course will be run over 2 semesters of 14 weeks each with 7 modules in each semester. Each module will cover in week 1 Clinical cases, Cosmetic dermatology, Dermatopathology, and Treatment Pharmacology plus some Weekly test images to go over. There are also module assessment questions that you should note your answers to when reading the module. These do not have to be formally submitted.

In week 2 of each module we cover DermSurgery, Tumour Dermatopathology, Dermatoscopy and Laboratory Medicine/Investigations.

There are Preview videos for each module as well as previously recorded course webinars and videos of formal answers to the Assessment questions for each module. The course will be delivered completely online.

Semester 1 will run from 29th Jan through the 7th May and Semester 2 from 10th June until the 14th September approximately. There will be exams at the end of each Semester. See www.aideducational.com under Courses for further details.

Websites used in the Fellowship course will be www.aidfellowship.com

You will also have access to the Alumni website at www.aidskinconsult.com for the Alumni webinars held every second Thursday night from 8.15 PM for discussion of interesting cases from Dr McColl's rooms and cases submitted by the Alumni.

The Fellowship of the Australian Institute of Dermatology does not allow you to practice as a Specialist Dermatologist in Australia under Medicare. You need to be a Fellow of the Australasian College of Dermatologists to do this. However it does equip you to operate an independent dermatology practice providing a very high standard of care. This is especially useful in Rural or outer metropolitan areas where access to a Specialist Dermatologist is difficult.

The course fees for 2025 will be $1750 if paid by the 1st Dec 2024 and $2000 if paid after that date.

If you have any other questions please contact Dr Ian McColl at imccoll@ozemail.com.au